With the holiday fun and hard work over, now it's time to settle back in an easy chair and contemplate where you might spend your next vacation. Here are a few ideas.

* GreatEscape2004: How about a first-class, Survivor-type vacation? The Global Scavenger Hunt invites 50 people on an around-the-world, adventure-travel competition. From April 16 through May 9, 2004, 25 two-people teams will earn points by completing a series of culturally oriented scavenges in at least 10 countries across four continents. The application deadline is February 27th and entry fee is $9,900, a portion of which is tax deductible. The GreatEscape Foundation, a charitable foundation that raises money in fun, novel and interesting ways, organizes the annual scavenger hunt.
